A LETTER FROM OUR LEADERSHIP

Dear Friends,

As food insecurity in Orange County continued to grow throughout the difficult 2025-2026 fiscal year, our readiness has been tested. We are humbled by the relentless commitment of our donors, volunteers, partners and staff, who have all stepped up with us to meet the challenges head on while preparing for what lies ahead. Thank you.

Your commitment translated into meaningful results. Last fiscal year, Second Harvest distributed 43.3 million pounds of nutritious food, exceeding our annual goal of 42 million pounds and bringing us closer to the 45 million pounds envisioned in our 45 x '27 strategic plan. Each month, we served an average of 453,271* Orange County residents facing food insecurity.

That outstanding result is especially important as rising costs strain household budgets and federal nutrition assistance cuts result in more Orange County residents turning to the charitable food system. Ongoing threats to SNAP benefits (known as CalFresh here in California) could affect tens of thousands of OC residents. These challenges underscore why our ability to respond, and the community's continued support, matter more than ever.

Despite these pressures, the Food Bank stands as a beacon of hope and stability for many – not just for those experiencing food insecurity, but for people in our community who seek to be part of a solution.

Nutritious food remains at the heart of our mission. Harvest Solutions Farm, our partnership with Solutions for Urban Agriculture and University of California South Coast Research & Extension Center, has now produced nearly 10 million pounds of produce for the community since its inception in August of 2021. Our new Grocery Rescue partnership with Stater Brothers is expected to bring an additional one million pounds of food annually into our network.

We're also investing in infrastructure to serve our community more effectively, including breaking ground on a new Processing Room made possible by the generosity of the J.W. and Sandra Mitchell Foundation and Roberto Foundation. In addition, a $1.2 million donation from CalOptima and nearly $2.5 million raised through Harvesters Fashion Show and Luncheon and "No Lunch" Lunch last year, are helping us prepare for the increasing need. We are grateful for our donors, who are recognized on pages 14 – 17 within this report.

Readiness also means understanding where we can do more. We've completed the first phase of our Service Area Assessment, in which we gathered insights from community members and partners to better understand gaps in food access across Orange County. You can read more about some key findings on page 7 within this report. These insights will guide the next phase of our work as we identify opportunities to reach more people by reducing barriers to nutritious food, an effort just as important as providing the food itself.

As we enter the final year of our 45 x '27 strategic plan, we are already shaping the next chapter of our work. With 1 in 8 Orange County community members experiencing food insecurity, there is more to do. We will rise to meet the challenges ahead, and we remain grateful for the enduring support from all of you who help us provide dignified, equitable and consistent access to nutritious food for all who need it.

In gratitude as we work to ensure stronger days ahead,

Maria Zlidar Richards

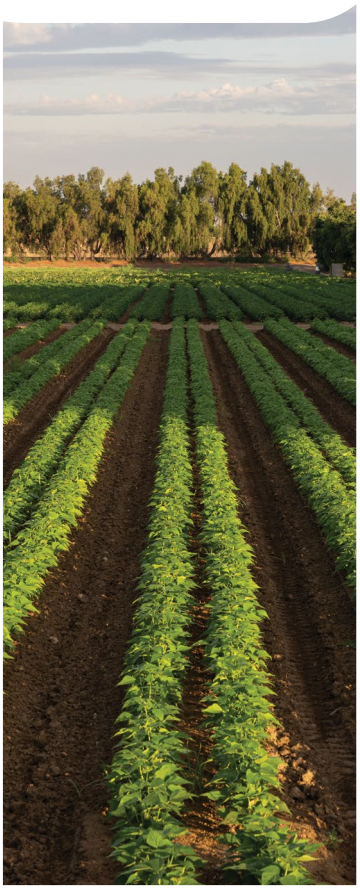
MORE THAN FOOD

Voices From the Community

The work we do is its own reward. But we are always honored when a community member shares their story. This letter from M.W. expresses her appreciation for Julie at the El Sol Pantry and Ellie and Leslie on our Programs & Services team.



Dear Ms. Daviss, Ellie and Leslie,

I wanted to take a minute to let you know of my experience with the El Sol Pantry at 10th and Broadway in Santa Ana.

I started coming to El Sol Pantry fall of last year. I was feeling a bit skeptical in the beginning since I've never needed to ask for groceries in my life. Ms. Julie helped me get signed up and let me know how the program works. I have been coming regularly since then.

It's a very humbling experience to seek help for food. I've been an Executive, an Administrator for many years and due to becoming disabled, my world has changed. I was always involved with food ministry at church, always participated with food drives and now, I'm on the receiving end and has become a full circle experience for me.

Ms. Julie and her team have been most kind, compassionate and caring.

Going through a pantry experience is most humbling, but when you have a team of people who treat you with dignity in spite of your circumstances, it really melts your heart.

Ms. Julie and her team should be recognized for their work ethics of displaying compassion, care and kindness consistently at every visit. This pantry has been a blessing. Your staff is amazing and I wanted to let you know that.

Many thanks for all you do!

M.W.

Reaching More Community Members

Second Harvest's network of partners connects Orange County residents with nutritious food. To better understand where needs are greatest and identify opportunities to improve access, in 2025 the Food Bank completed the first phase of its Service Area Assessment. Informed by existing research and community member input, the assessment will help guide future efforts to reach more people. Here are some key findings.

A COUNTY THAT CARES

Our Volunteers

What a year it's been. Our volunteers have stepped up big time, with more people offering more time and more visits than last year.

At the Distribution Center, Harvest Solutions Farm and Founders Farm, volunteers helped us to provide fresh, nutritious food exactly when and where it was needed most. In fiscal year 2025-2026 alone, volunteers contributed 87,099 total hours of service — nearly 33,000 visits from over 21,000 individuals who believe in our mission.

At the Distribution Center, volunteers ages 13 and up processed food with care, ensuring quality and dignity at every step.

Through our partnership with Solutions for Urban Agriculture and the University of California South Coast Research & Extension Center, Harvest Solutions Farm volunteers ages seven and up took to the fields to harvest over one and a half million pounds of fresh produce. From summer zucchini to winter broccoli, this nutritious food reached our partners, and the families they serve, within days of harvest.

Together, our volunteers have gone above and beyond to give families and individuals much-needed support throughout the year.

SHOWING UP TODAY FOR HEALTHIER TOMORROWS

"I grew up in a very poor family, and access to fresh, high-quality produce simply wasn't an option for us. (That) had lasting effects on my health, even after I was fortunate enough to become successful later in life. (So), I understand firsthand that access to nutritious and quality produce is not simply about relieving hunger — it is about giving people the opportunity to live healthier lives for years to come. It is truly an honor to work alongside individuals like you whose passion and dedication make such a meaningful difference in our community."

GETTING STRONGER TO MEET

The Ongoing Need in Orange County

Feeding America is a nationwide network of 198 food banks of which Second Harvest is a member. The organization issues statistics on food insecurity in counties throughout America, and these staggering numbers prove our work at Second Harvest continues to be critical for the health and well-being of everyone in Orange County.

1 IN 8
Individuals is food insecure

387,370
People are food insecure

1 IN 6
Children is food insecure

112,420
Children are food insecure

In its latest data, Feeding America shows that, in 2024, Orange County experienced a 27% increase in food insecurity for children. This means the number of food-insecure children rose from 87,000 to over 112,000, leaving 1 in 6 children in need of support. For all individuals in Orange County, food insecurity rose by 6%.

Meanwhile, nearly half of all food-insecure folks in Orange County are not eligible for CalFresh/SNAP benefits. We are here to fill that shocking gap.

According to Feeding America, key national factors driving food insecurity include unemployment, poverty and income shocks. In Orange County, expensive housing combined with high food and fuel prices continue to push more families to rely on Second Harvest and our Partner Network. The cost of living leaves too many community members facing the impossible choice between paying rent and buying groceries. We continue to strengthen our infrastructure to meet these growing needs.

STRENGTHENING THE LIFELINE FOR THOSE

Facing the Impossible

The cost of rent in OC continues to rise. Food and gas prices are higher than they've ever been. This new reality is harsh, and we are prepared to face it.

We provide dependable, nutritious food for those otherwise forced to choose between paying rent or feeding their family. And we continue to build out our infrastructure to ensure even stronger support in the days ahead.

We're always strengthening our Partner Network, growing food and meeting people where they are — at schools, churches, community centers and more — to make access easier and more equitable.

The cost of living isn't going down. But we see stronger days ahead, thanks to the unwavering commitment of our donors, our volunteers and our team.

BY TWENTY TWENTY-SEVEN

BUILDING CAPACITY TO MEET THE GROWING NEED

In FY24, we launched a three-year strategic plan to deliver 45 million pounds of nutritious food annually to our Partner Network by 2027. This 45 x '27 plan ensures we're not just responding to crisis but building sustained capacity.

Year 1

EXCEEDING EXPECTATIONS

FY24 ACTUAL: 36M POUNDS

FY25 GOAL: 39M POUNDS

FY25 ACTUAL: 42M POUNDS

Year 2

REMARKABLE RESULTS

We exceeded our goal yet again in FY26, delivering 43.3 million pounds of food vs. a 42 million target. This was made possible through a substantial CalFood allowance, hiring more folks on our development team and an investment in the operational infrastructure (additional drivers and operations positions, truck rentals, etc.).

JEANETTE & ROBERT MAYER'S LEGACY

After 20 years teaching in Santa Ana, Jeanette Mayer knows how nutritious food helps children thrive. Today, she volunteers weekly at Second Harvest. She and her husband, Robert, have also included the Food Bank in their estate plans, extending their commitment to caring for others for generations.

"When I'm no longer here to give my time, I can continue supporting the Food Bank in another way."

A LEGACY OF Vision & Action

DANIEL J. HARNEY LEGACY SOCIETY

The Daniel J. Harney Legacy Society honors the memory of Daniel J. Harney, one of Second Harvest's visionary founders, whose belief that no one in our community should face hunger helped shape our mission. His commitment to addressing food insecurity remains an inspiration and an enduring part of our work today.

The Legacy Society includes generous supporters who share Harney's vision and choose to make a lasting difference through a bequest, beneficiary designation or other planned gifts. By including Second Harvest in their future plans, these compassionate donors are helping build a brighter future for our community, ensuring that nutritious food and hope remain within reach for generations to come.

This list honors our Legacy Society members and acknowledges the meaningful bequests realized in FY26.
